Provost's Report

Provost's Council

Provost Walsh reported on the Higher Education Coordinating Commission's (HECC) support to increase the Public University Support Fund to a level that keeps a tuition increase below 5 percent and that there is every intention of keeping strong start programs like the Bridge Program in place.

Transfer Council

Provost Walsh said that SOU continues working with other schools to help host an articulation summit semi-annually to increase collaboration and transfers among community colleges and Oregon's public universities. She later added that a main driver for the statewide group is common course numbering for community colleges and the public universities. More updates will be provided.

Other General Updates

Dr. Walsh updated the committee on changes in the academic organizational structure. To be more efficient with resources and after many discussions with faculty and staff, the decision was made to eliminate the Division of Humanities and Culture. This division is much smaller with fewer faculty and less in student full-time equivalencies (FTE). It will be dissolved at the end of this term and the programs will be moved to other divisions. This will lead to good synergies and efficiencies will be realized.

Regarding the general education, Provost Walsh said the task force continues its work toward implementing the new general education curriculum in the fall of 2023. The work is on track and Andrew Gay, who has been leading the charge, will update trustees at a future meeting.

Vice President's Report

Enrollment Management Dashboard and Enrollment Council Update

Dr. Neil Woolf presented the enrollment management data, which are following fairly normal trends from the fall to winter term, and he reviewed the fall 2022 admissions funnel report. Discussion ensued regarding out-of-state students and efforts to reach students across the country and world to compete in the online education space.

Action, Information and Discussion Items (Action)

Curriculum Update

Provost Walsh provided several updates on curricular items, highlighting that the new major in sustainable tourism management, which the committee recently approved, was approved at the HECC last week so SOU has a new major. Another new major is moving forward in music industry and production studies and a special meeting of the committee may be necessary to approve it. In June, she expects to bring forward new certificate programs in restorative justice and sports and recreation management.

New Program Proposal: Certificate in Environmental Communication

Dr. Erik Palmer discussed the new program proposal for a Certificate in Environmental Communication, as presented in the materials.

Trustee Thalden moved to approve the proposal. Board Chair Santos seconded the motion. The motion was approved unanimously.

Tuition and Fees Affordability

The team of vice presidents Walsh, Woolf, and Perkinson led the committee in a discussion about the tuition and fees recommendation, especially affordability, as well as the factors influencing the recommendation and the process underlying these.

Regarding the Tuition Advisory Council (TAC), the chair of the council, Provost Walsh, reviewed the composition of the TAC, explained the committee met eight times this year for two hours each meeting, and completed each item on the TAC process checklist, which is available online with the meeting minutes. She praised Josh Lovern his work educating the students on the budgets, how revenue and expenses work, and the heavy lifting of the process. The TAC then made a recommendation to the president, which was unanimous.

Greg Perkinson praised the students' work and their process in developing the student fees. Dr. Walsh walked the committee through the extensive set of materials focused on mandatory enrollment and incidental fees. The total cost of attendance including housing and meals was presented and the composite tuition and fees increase was 4.73 percent. Vice President Woolf highlighted tuition affordability programs such as remissions and financial aid leveraging. Dr. Walsh explained that the TAC had important philosophical discussions about equity and that the affordability measures are geared toward this.

Open Educational Resources (OER)

Dale Vidmar, university librarian, discussed OERs as an additional strategy to reduce costs for students and shared SOU's plan. He said OER grants at SOU since 2015 have saved 6,294 students an estimated $1,278,642.90, representing $14.39 per program dollar spent. The goal is that 25 percent of the courses requiring materials will use no or low-cost materials by fall 2024.

SOU Educator Equity Plan (Action)

Chair Santos noted that pursuant to ORS 342.447 (amended by HB 3365), SOU is required on a biennial basis to prepare written plans that detail the recruitment, selection, retention, and graduation of diverse educators. The board is asked to review these plans for adequacy and feasibility. Following the committee's action and recommendation to the board, the plan will be forwarded to the HECC.

Dr. King discussed the continuing plan with the committee, as presented in the extensive materials. He focused on key differences in this year's plan, measures of success, and the current program results.

Board Chair Santos moved to approve the plan as presented and to recommend it to the full board for adoption. Trustee Wilson seconded the motion and it passed unanimously.

Addition of New Athletic Sports

Introducing the topic, President Bailey praised Matt Sayre, Director of Athletics, following their recent National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics conference, and said he wants trustees to think about athletics as an enrollment mechanism underway to bring more students and student athletes to SOU. Director Sayre explained, the university is looking to bring four new sports to campus in 2022-23 including women's cheer/dance; women's beach volleyball; men's and women's cycling; and men's and women's golf. Director Sayre and Vice President Woolf presented enrollment concepts behind new sports, expected enrollment impacts, and the diversity recruitment and retention model in athletics.

Enrollment Marketing Dashboards

SOU's Marketing Director, Nicolle Aleman, shared some of the tools the subcommittee uses to assist with enrollment process. She reviewed an institutional strategy including social media, dashboards and reporting, digital advertising, and provided a live demonstration of the tools used. Ultimately, she said the work is data driven marketing and she discussed how they can measure returns on investment.

Re-Imagining of SOU-Community College Partnerships

With a constant eye toward collaboration, enrollment, and growing SOU's transfer student population, Dr. Woolf and President Bailey have been on a community college tour to help create and solidify new partnerships to ensure student success and graduates. They discussed how well these visits have been going, the progress they've been able to make so far, why these partnerships are important to SOU and its students, and goals to connect with all 17 community colleges in Oregon.

Future Meetings

Chair Bullock said the next meeting of the Academic and Student Affairs Committee meeting will take place on Thursday, June 16, 2022. He asked that if any trustee on the committee has any topics they'd like to see on a future agenda, please send them to the Board Secretary.

Adjournment

With no further business proposed, Chair Bullock adjourned the meeting at 3:24 p.m.

Public Comment

Action, Information and Discussion Items

Chair Bullock reminded the committee that the board delegated the responsibility of curriculum approvals to the Academic and Student Affairs Committee. Dr. Derek Keller and Terry Longshore discussed the proposed certificate program for the Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science in Music Industry and Production Studies. Dr. Keller was charged with developing a curriculum and he has started new audio and music production courses; he noted that ensembles have doubled in size. To have industry in the title of the program requires a certain number of classes such as business and industry economics. The major has a fairly high number of professional credits because it has the music and business requirements. The new program is expected to help with student recruitment as well as retention.

President Bailey commended Longshore and Keller for their innovation and leadership. He stated that these very specialized, exciting pathways help set SOU apart and get more recognition regionally, nationally, and beyond. Dr. Keller further discussed collaboration such as grants and donors and with Jefferson Public Radio. Questions and discussion ensued regarding the program, curriculum, faculty, and other factors related to the development of the program.

Trustee Thalden moved to approve the Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science in Music Industry and Production Students. Trustee Lee seconded the motion and it passed unanimously.

Future Meetings

Chair Bullock announced that the next regularly scheduled meeting of the committee is scheduled to take place at noon on June 16.

Public Comment

Dani Brodie, current chapter chair of the OSPIRG student organization, joined the meeting via Zoom. They informed the committee of OSPIRG's focus on environmental and social justice issues describing several projects. The group was defunded by the Student Fee Committee; Dani asked that the trustees consider a budget that includes OSPIRG and requested help with funding the organization.

Consent Agenda (Action)

Due to capacity issues, there were no minutes to approve.

Provost's Report

Provost Sue Walsh informed the committee that Lane Community College is putting forward applied baccalaureate degrees in nursing, business, and child development/education and expressed concerns on the matter. Provost Walsh plans to talk with the divisions regarding this and the possibility of offering associate degrees. Discussion followed regarding the role of the Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) and whether students' needs are being met.

She noted that the statewide Provost's Council continues to review legislative concepts. Provost's would like to see state monies follow the student to any post-secondary institution for Oregon Promise grants and see Oregon Opportunity Grants increase base funding levels as well as tier awards. The HECC and others are on board. She noted further that the Native American College Access Program is moving forward to the legislature and Strong Start funding will continue into the next biennium, which affect's SOU's BRIDGE program.

Provost Walsh shared that Governor Brown has allocated $200 million for the Career Ready Oregon programs and $95 million is slated for workforce-ready grants to support paid work experience, work programs, tuition and fee assistance, and other activities such as career pathways work. SOU can and will start looking at and applying for these grants.

Vice President's Report

Vice President for Enrollment Management and Student Affairs, Dr. Neil Woolf, was excited to talk about the Raider Academic Awards and welcome the Top Student Leader, Erin Wright and her husband, Brian. Dr. Woolf read the complimentary statement that was read during the awards ceremony regarding Erin's work in starting and running a student club for students to discuss and receive peer support with mental health.

He also reviewed the enrollment management dashboard and completions update, as presented in the materials; he clarified the difference between degrees awarded and students who applied for graduation.

Action, Information and Discussion Items

Curriculum Update

Certificate in Restorative Justice (Action)

Associate Provost, Dr. Dan DeNeui provided a brief overview of the certificate program as well as background on the need for transformation in criminal justice programs and approaches, citing a significant enrollment decline in criminal justice programs after the George Floyd incident. Courses that are foundational to the criminal justice program are included in the certificate and courses with an additional restorative justice focus are required. SOU will be the first university in the state to offer such a program.

Trustees asked about recruitment within and from other current majors, workforce opportunities, concerns about the duration of time needed to complete the certificate, and applicability of the certificate to other disciplines such as education and higher education.

Trustee Santos called for a motion to approve the Certificate in Restorative Justice. Trustee Thalden seconded the motion. The motion was approved unanimously.

Certificate in Sport and Recreation Management (Action)

Joel Perkins, Chair of Health and Exercise Science and instructor in the department, provided a brief overview of the certificate program, as proposed. Trustees sought clarity on workforce applicability what sports officials do, exactly.

Trustee Santos called for a motion to approve the Certificate in Restorative Justice. Trustee Vincent seconded the motion. The motion was approved unanimously.

Minor in Marketing

Provost Walsh informed the committee that SOU is leveraging the coursework it offers to provide new options for students by creating this minor in marketing, the in-depth proposal for which, was included in the meeting materials. Trustees asked how complementary the minor was expected to be to students in other departments and about the possibility that offering the minor would increase full-time equivalency (FTE); the university does expect these outcomes. Provost Walsh reminded the committee that trustees do not need to approve new minors.

Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science in Music Industry and Production Studies

Provost Walsh provided an update on this program that was approved at the committee's special meeting in May. The HECC approved it; so, SOU will be offering the new program in the fall of 2022. She thanked trustees for their support.

General Education Task Force Update

Andrew Gay provided an overview of SOU's general education (GenEd) transformation, as it applies to strategic directions one and four of the university's strategic plan. Some objectives of the GenEd Task Force's work have been to reduce credit requirements, make learning goals and requirements more transparent and purposeful for students; make GenEd more attractive to prospective students; and to ensure maximum transferability of credits. Gay explained how shifting from discipline-focused outcomes to skill-based capacities with student-focused outcomes will improve the student experience, increase equity and access, and prepare students for the workforce. Gay highlighted the progress and accomplishments including professional development of more than 70 faculty and the development of 92 courses with 25 more in the pipeline. He outlined the next steps in preparation for launch.

Trustees discussed the representation of programs across the disciplines, better real-world applicability of the capacities to the needs of the students, representation of student work through the portfolios, and offered overall commendation for the transformation.

Student, Faculty, and Staff Affinity Groups

Drs. Stillman, Vath, and Woolf discussed the work of the affinity groups to support the recruitment and retention of students as well as faculty and staff, and discussed data on the students, as presented in the materials. They talked with different groups to find out their specific needs/wants as well as with staff who could volunteer to serve on these groups. Mentorship and training were common themes among these groups, both with peers and faculty/staff. As a result, affinity groups have been created for American Samoan, Latin-X, Black/African American, Native American, and Asian/Pacific Islander students.

Trustees discussed mentoring, tribal outreach, student retention, suggestions for including Eastern Oregon residents, and LGBTQ+ as groups.

EAB's Navigate: Update on Retention

Provost Walsh and VP Woolf updated the committee on the use of EAB's Navigate and how it is helping SOU with retention. Currently 78 percent of students and 82 percent of faculty use Navigate. They discussed the data that those who attended Navigate campaigns retained at rates higher than those who did not and versus SOU overall.

Data Sharing Agreements

Chair Bullock shared the importance of the data sharing agreements with local and regional high schools and school districts. The chair framed the item by noting the gap that exists between K-12 and higher education, and that high school graduation and college preparation are not one and the same. VP Woolf defined these agreements, presented the benefits to the students, school districts and SOU. Currently, agreements have been signed with Medford School District, Ashland School District, Grants Pass School District, and Redmond Proficiency Academy. Invitations have been extended to Phoenix-Talent School District and Eagle Point School District. There are active discussions with Portland Public Schools, Central Point School District and Roseburg Public Schools. Admissions Director Zac Olsen discussed the next steps in the data sharing process as well as targeted communications.

Trustees discussed the importance of ethicality in these programs; concerns about inundating students with email, pressuring students, and ability to opt out. They also discussed budget, best practices, improving access to higher education, and tracking ROI.

Student-Centered Statewide Discussions

President Bailey spoke of the statewide higher education discussions taking place in the state. The Oregon Council of Presidents and the Oregon Community College Association partnered with the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems (NCHEMS) to analyze higher education in the state in terms of collaborative efforts between institutions, serving underrepresented populations, and other areas. The Student Voices Task force is a legislative task force that will come to SOU in July to get the student perspective. He later added that in the NCHEMS discussion, it was noted that state investment in higher education is the same as it was 20 years ago; Oregon ranks in the 40's terms of the 50 states' funding contributions to higher ed; and Oregon ranks 43rd in the nation for high school students that go directly into higher education. With these numbers, the state needs to drive the strategy for higher ed and this should be a wakeup call.

Jeanne Stallman explained that the NCHEMS work and the task force are running parallel with work HECC is doing. The three of these will come together to inform the legislative session and hopefully all point in the same direction on where the state needs to go.

Future Meetings

Chair Bullock announced the next regularly scheduled meeting of the committee is scheduled to take place at noon on Thursday, October 20.

Adjournment

With no further business proposed, Chair Bullock adjourned the meeting at 2:55 PM.

STUDENT MOBILITY

- Higher education improves:
- - Social Mobility Index
 - The Social Mobility Index (SMI) measures the extent to which a college or university educates more economically disadvantaged students (with family incomes below the national median) at lower tuition and graduates them into good paying jobs
 - Oregon ranks 39th out of 50 for social mobility through higher education
 - SOU ranks 676 out of 1,550 institutions, ahead of notable institutions (UO-690; University of San Francisco-678; Stanford-1,177; Harvard-1,310; USC-1,106, etc...)
 - Economic Mobility Tool
 - Measures which schools enroll the highest proportion of students from low- and moderate-backgrounds AND provide them with a strong return on their educational investment.
 - SOU ranks 194 out of 1,350 institutions measured, this is in the top tier (Tier 1), top 20% of the institutions, 2nd highest ranking amongst Oregon institutions

SOU'S MEASURABLE OUTCOMES

- Career Services Redesign
 - Partnering with a consultant to conduct focus groups with key stakeholders, provide recommendations associated with best practices for liberal arts colleges organizational structure, SWOT analysis, and software.
- First Destinations Survey
- Post Secondary Employment Outcomes

ACADEMIC PROGRAM REVIEW,

Insert Name of Academic Program

Due to the Director of University Assessment by April 15, 2021

Purpose:

The purpose of the Academic Program Review (APR) is to provide a formal process and medium for program stakeholders to provide information about accomplishments, strengths, challenges, and to align academic programs with the goals as outlined in the SOU Strategic Plan. The APR can also help programs track the impact of changes to curriculum, program requirements, and faculty staffing over time. The APR can be used for both descriptive and evaluative purposes.

Audience:

The audience for the APR is your department, the administration, and the SOU board of trustees. The writing process and the APR document and data included in it are of critical importance for the programs and institution in their planning processes. The tone and voice of the APR need to be appropriate to these audiences and consistent throughout the entire report.

Executive Summary: (a page or less)

Mission and Vision Statements

A mission statement is a concise explanation of the program's reason for existence. It describes the program's purpose and its overall intention. The mission statement supports the vision and serves to communicate purpose and direction to clients, customers, vendors and other stakeholders.

Questions to consider when drafting mission statements could include:

- What is our program's purpose?
- Why does our program exist?

A vision statement looks forward and creates a mental image of the ideal state that the program wishes to achieve. It is inspirational and aspirational and should challenge employees. Questions to consider when drafting vision statements might include:

- What problem are we seeking to solve?
- Where are we headed?
- If we achieved all strategic goals, what would we look like 10 years from now?

Mission answers the question “Why do we exist?” Vision answers the question “What will the future look like as we fulfill our mission? What will be different?” While mission is about today, vision is about the future, what we will become.

A mission statement can and should be written in a short, concise form. It should pass the “T-shirt” test, meaning, it should be able to be printed on a t-shirt and still be readable. The vision needs to be more than a statement. It should be a description. This description may be a paragraph or a whole page. It should paint a picture of the future that will come to be as we carry out our mission

Some books and consultants encourage business and organizational leaders to write two statements, a mission statement and a vision statement. However, when organizations have two statements those statements begin to compete with each other and no one remembers either.

Write ONE statement, and make it the mission statement. Once you have clarity around your mission, then you are ready to dream about the future and how it will be different. That’s your vision!

Update on Revenue Enhancement Work in Academic and Student Affairs

Revenue Enhancement Projects: Summary & Implications

October 20, 2022
Academic & Student Affairs Committee
SOU Board of Trustees

Dr. Matt Stillman
University Registrar
Assistant Vice President for Enrollment Management

Josh Lovern
Director of Budget and Planning

Introduction:

We've been working diligently for the past year to:

- Enhance understanding of the intricacies of SSCM
- Ensure we're capitalizing on the system and are already getting "credit" for what we do
- Identify and make immediate progress on enhancements to our funding

Focal points thus far:

- State-level SSCM Technical Review Group
- Senior and staff audits
- CIP codes
- Bilingual Education

State-Level SSCM Technical Review Group:

- Josh and Matt serving on group
- Careful examination of the model
- Concerns with calculations, rule interpretation, and transparency being addressed
- End sum, increase our understanding of the processes, improve the accuracy of the model, and enhance the transparency and accountability of HECC
- Many calculations are in flux, hence why we're not giving dollar figures today – True-up hopefully will fix!

Senior & Staff Audits:

- Discovered that audit activity is fundable in SSCM
- Started converting OLLI work to 1-credit modules Fall 22
 - Approx. 1065 SCH so far (modeling shows roughly 3000 sch per year)
 - Example: UGS 198 See Like a Geologist: Iceland (75 SCH)
- Future:
 - Continue to expand senior audits
 - Working towards converting staff training/development to audit activity over next year

Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP Codes):

- CIP codes are used to classify courses and degrees
- “Value” of courses/degrees vary in SSCM, and STEM bonus
- None of this mattered when they were created, so we’re going back and changing MANY to maximize funding (still within the rules), especially with an eye to STEM bonus
- Example: moved all MS coursework to a slightly different “Military Applied Sciences” CIP code that’s STEM-eligible
 - Roughly 200 SCH a term there alone.
- Future: continue to refine course CIPs, more work soon with degree classifications

Bilingual Education:

- Supposed to get extra points for BLE (Bonus additive), but have not been receiving
- Working through reporting mechanism & should increase our funding moving forward
- SOU is in prime position to capitalize on this given our curriculum & growth in this segment
- Work with Faculty to ensure all BLE is being counted

Summary:

- Increased accuracy/understanding of the model
- Enhanced funding through SSCM
- Leverage funding for activities we're doing regardless
- Effectively use our internal expertise to SOU's advantage
- Additional curricular developments forthcoming
